NATIONAL SMALL BUSINESS SEMINAR COMING TO WOODSTOCK, GA

Atlanta, GA – After instructing seminars in Orlando, Austin, Dallas, Phoenix, and Denver, business consultant and Cherokee County resident Mary Wilhite is bringing her national small business seminar to local business leaders.

Passion Profit Marketing is providing an Online Profit Seminar at Folks Southern Kitchen in Woodstock, Georgia on May 12, 2010 at 11:30am. The seminar is offered to small business leaders who are looking to drastically cut advertising expenses and make business more profitable through the internet.

After teaching over 400 participants how to set up a 24/7 virtual sales person online, Wilhite promises a benefiting experience. “There is a technique to cutting ad budgets and increasing profit at the same time,” said Wilhite. There are many nationwide success stories that have been fostered from the Online Profit Seminar. As a vibrant home to many small businesses, the Cherokee County community would benefit tremendously.

The two hour seminar teaches multiple online strategies such as how to profitably setup and manage databases to organize clients, outsourcing, fast and easy list building for repeat customers, and the three key factors for high customer conversion.

Yellow Pages are becoming less of a marketing tool compared to online communications. Wilhite communicates with nearly 20,000 Twitter followers who are predominately small business leaders. For more information on this revolutionary seminar email mewilhite@earnlink.net
